LOCAL EVENTS IN OTHER TOWNS

Settlement was reached out of court on Saturday morning in the action brought by minority shareholders of the Interior Oil Company against the Wainwright Oil Limited. The Institute of Technology and Art of Calgary expects to establish in Tofield night classes in English, provided that a minimum enrolment of twelve adults be obtained. On Sunday last the business girls who are members of the Victoria Park Golf Club, held a tournament at the local club. The cup was won by Miss June Howard and the "silverware" by Miss Leila Hart. Mr. Gourlay, the "Pro," donated a golf ball, which was won by Miss Helga Foss, who defeated Miss Helga Peterson in the finals. — Camrose Canadian.

Motor clubs in all parts of the province should join in a strong demand upon the Dominion government for the restoration of federal aid for highways. The local members should be urged in the most emphatic terms possible to give their support, for it is only by means of keeping the matter in the limelight that the federal government will realize that financial assistance is badly needed. — God Roads Magazine.

CHURCH SCHOOL

11 A. M. is for Everybody — Come

The Rally Day Program last Sunday was a beautiful "Peace and Goodwill" service. For this, the church was beautifully and artistically decorated. The "Gate" Promotion exercise was used this year, there being three from the Beginners class, Louisa Barber, Doreen Hatch and Percy Congdon going into the Primary class, and four, Ethel Tait, Marion Thorpe, W. McDonald and Orville Wright, going into the Junior class. The roll call of the different classes showed that only one was absent from the Primary class but later it was discovered that one was in the orchestra so that gave them total attendance. Congratulations to Primary class. The boys in this class won the memory contest.

The girls in the Junior class were ahead. Everyone enjoyed the orchestra, composed of Lawrence Nash, Orville and Morris Wright with violins and Marjory Locke, pianist.

The adult class had the largest number of visitors for the day. The photos taken September 23rd through the kindness of Mr. Fickelton will be presented next Sunday to those attending the most Sundays since January 1st, and those who have covered the most memory work. Mrs. Locke, convenor of the monthly missionary meeting is planning something good for next Sunday.

A missionary band was organized last Friday week with Mrs. Shaw as leader, and will meet every Friday at 3:45 p.m. All boys and girls up to twelve are heartily welcome.

Teach People to Think, Says New University Head

One of the outstanding features of the convention of the Alberta division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers association held at Lethbridge recently was the address given by Dr. R. C. Wallace, the new president of the University of Alberta. It was his second public address delivered since arriving in the province and needless to say it was most cordially received by the editors, and his remarks made a deep impression on the minds of those in attendance.

In opening his address, Dr. Wallace said he was delighted to meet the weekly editors in their convention, as it afforded him an opportunity to establish contacts and to obtain points of view from all parts of the province.

In the professional educational field, as in every other field, a broad background was necessary, he declared, and that background was obtainable from many sources. The doors of entrance to education do not all lead to the schools and the universities, he said, for in all the activities and functions of life lie fields of knowledge and all these agencies are used by the sincere and thoughtful student.

"When I was in Manitoba I met a man who told me he had obtained his education by hearing men speak from the public platform, and he was a cultured man," said Dr. Wallace. "The press is another great educator, and the weekly press to me has a distinctive function to perform."

That function, he explained, was to present in a quiet, dispassionate, impartial way the affairs of the nation and of the world. As a geologist he went on to state, he had been isolated for months at a time without access to newspapers or other periodicals, and on his return to civilization he had often marvelled at the rapidity with which he had been able to review and digest the essential things through the reading of the weekly press. Periodical, weekly, monthly or even quarterly. He cited the "Round Table" as just such a medium. This type of periodical, with its resume articles and reviews, is valued by the thoughtful reader, and in this field the weekly editor stands in a better position than does the daily editor, who is more concerned in the presentation of facts.

"I have always felt that the city papers do not pay enough attention to the editorial opinion of the weekly press. We would appreciate it greatly if our city papers would crystallize the thought of the weekly press of the province, from the Peace River to the border, and present it to us from time to time. It would be informative and would indicate the trend of feeling in the rural sections. I know our weekly editors are busy men, but any newspaper, to be really worth while, must have strong editorial views and not afraid to express them. It is surprising how many people read the editorial pages of our newspapers both daily and weekly," said Dr. Wallace.

In the building up of a true democratic civilization, he continued, the people should not be educated in facts alone—that is the lowest type of education—but rather they must be educated in the ability to think for themselves. Until they are equipped to think things through for themselves, a safe democracy is impossible, for in a crisis they will be dependent upon others rather than upon themselves.

More and more there is a large silent group growing up within the nation, a group attached to no particular political party or organization, but who nevertheless are tremendously interested in public affairs. They are not pledged to any definite viewpoint, but in a quiet way study public questions and form their own conclusions.

This sort of men and women, said Dr. Wallace, will not become prey to the puppets of propaganda, for they have an education with a background of knowledge. They are without political racial or religious prejudice, but have a broad sympathy for all elements in society. And moreover, they are able to act for themselves.

It was surprising, said Dr. Wallace, the interest being shown today by the men in adult education. Study groups were springing up everywhere and unless the men aroused themselves they would awake soon to find the women better informed than they.

"Teach people to think—that is the soundest, the safest type of education. Our school teachers should teach our school children to think out problems. That is more essential than a lot of abstract facts, important though the facts may be. In an hour of crisis the library cannot help us. The thing that can help is a people trained to think, and that type of education can be fostered by the press and should be fostered by it. We are laying the foundation for a great civilization for the future, and it is our business to see that it is the right type of foundation. In our task we must see the past and look into the future, for education and the ability to see it well are obtained in many ways," declared Dr. Wallace.

YOUNG BOOHER TO HANG FOR MURDER

Vernon Booher, of Mannville, was found guilty of the murder of his mother, brother, and two hired men, at the conclusion of one of the most sensational murder trials ever held in Canada, last Friday at Edmonton.

The jury deliberated one hour and forty minutes before coming to a decision. Without any comment Justice Simmonds sentenced Booher to be hanged by the neck until dead, at Fort Saskatchewan jail, on December 15th.

The murder for which young Booher will pay the supreme penalty was one of the most brutal and coldblooded in the annals of crime. With a high-powered rifle his mother was shot in the back of the head as she was preparing some fruit while sitting at the kitchen table. Her son Fred hearing the shots ran to see what it was all about and as he entered the room he received a bullet in the head dying almost immediately. With the idea of covering up the crime so as to leave no witnesses, two hired men out in the nearby buildings were shot as they were doing their chores.

The confession that young Booher made to the police was ruled out by the judge because of the possibility of young Booher being under the hypnotic influence of Dr. Langsner, the noted criminologist, who was called in by the police to aid in solving the murder.

It was surprising, said Dr. Wallace, the interest being shown today by the men in adult education. Study groups were springing up everywhere and unless the men aroused themselves they would awake soon to find the women better informed than they.

"Teach people to think—that is the soundest, the safest type of education. Our school teachers should teach our school children to think out problems. It is expected that this mode of transportation will be used quite frequently by the manager if the saving of time is sufficient to justify the adoption of that policy.

Christianity's Next Task

The signing of (1) the Treaty of Versailles in which is incorporated the covenant of the League of Nations; (2) the naval treaties at Washington; and (3) the Kellogg anti-war declaration recently at Paris, were all hailed by press, pulpit and public as important milestones along the road to permanent world peace and a better understanding among the races of the earth. Special services were held in churches to mark some if not all of these events, while thousands of columns of editorial matter were printed lauding these notable efforts to put an end to racial animosities. And every word written or spoken in praise and support of these great peace movements was fully deserved.

But, notes the Literary Digest, the new programme for world-wide spiritual co-operation adopted by the International Missionary Council at its last meeting in Jerusalem may be considered as revolutionary in the ecclesiastical world as the above named three events are in the political world. All look to the promotion of peace, but the Jerusalem Conference, perhaps, probed deeper into the problems which agitate the world and array nations against nation, race against race, and concludes the Literary Digest while little publicity has been given to the deliberations and conclusions of the Conference held on the Mount of Olives, no bells rung or paeans of praise offered up, yet so much was done that posterity may rank Jerusalem with Geneva, Washington and Paris in the onward march of mankind toward international unity and the ending of racial hatred.

Among the subjects discussed on the sacred mount outside the Holy City were the race problem, the rights of minorities, the protection of women and children in industry, relations between strong and weak nations, the land question, intellectual and spiritual co-operation, relations between church and state, and various other phases of world peace. Specialists on race, industry, and international relations from the minorities section of the League of Nations and the Universities of London, Harvard and Columbia, among other institutions, were present to contribute technical knowledge as these problems were attacked.

And with what result? Following lengthy and searching study of conditions as they now exist in countries all over the world, and the relation and duty of the Christian church thereto, this International Missionary Conference meeting at Jerusalem found that "The Church has not firmly and effectively set its face against race hatred, race envy, race contempt, or against racial, national and social pride, or against the lust for wealth and exploitation of the poor or weak."

It was evident right at the beginning of the Conference that the old attitude of superiority of the West over the East, regarding of Nordic civilization and the Christian religion as one and the same, was not acceptable. The idea of race superiority was not admitted for a moment, and the Conference indicated its belief that the basis of race prejudice is economic. In lands where races live side by side, participation by all in racial intermingling for social, cultural, and religious fellowship was declared to be the natural expression of Christianity, and was welcomed as a step toward world-wide understanding.

Who is there who deny that such belief and conclusions are in line with the teachings and spirit of the Founder?

And does there not emanate from this Conference a special message for the people of Canada, and especially for the people of Western Canada? Of late there have been unfortunate revivals of ancient campaigns by certain classes of our people against other classes based solely of questions of race and creed. Most unfortunate of all is the fact that many of the leaders in these campaigns, which are a denial of Christ's whole life and teaching, are recognized leaders in the Christian church.

It is the fond hope and dearest ambition of many thousands of forward-looking, patriotic Canadians that this young Dominion reaching out in its new nationhood will become a power for good in the world; that its greatness will be found not alone in its wealth of natural resources, its far-reaching trade and commerce, its cultural attainments, but in those spiritual attainments and contributions to all mankind which, in the final analysis, are the true measures by which to estimate the greatness of any people or nation.

When Pain Comes

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach has to have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes excess acidity. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

Prosperity In Central B.C.

D. D. Munro, provincial government land settlement agent, Smithers, reports that crop prospects for Central British Columbia this year are very good. He states that since the erection and operation of the grain elevator at Prince Rupert, a number of farmers are going in for grain-growing with splendid results. He also says that the increase in mining is having a very beneficial effect, and he is enthusiastic with respect to the future prospects of that territory.

Tourist Trade Increasing

Figures For 1928 Will No Doubt Show Gain Over Last Year

While it was estimated that American tourists spent $200,000,000 in Canada last year, there is no doubt but that figures for 1928 will show fresh gains, stated R. K. Odell, assistant director of the natural resources intelligence service of the department of interior, who was in Edmonton in connection with affairs of his department.

Development of the tourist trade is of extreme importance to Canada and its value is fully recognized, said Mr. Odell. In carrying on its work, the federal branch is co-operating with the provincial governments and other local bodies.

ARE YOU RUN-DOWN?

All That Is Needed Is A Tonic To Build Up The Blood.

There are many people who have been semi-invalids so long that they accept their condition as a life burden. They have endured nervousness, broken sleep and a generally run-down feeling so long that they have given up hope of again enjoying good health. In most of these cases a well chosen diet, fresh air and a tonic to build up the blood would do wonders. And as a blood-building tonic no other medicine can compare with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. There is scarcely a spot in Canada where you will not find some formerly ailing person who has found new health through the use of this medicine. The experience of Mrs. Thomas Abraham, St. John's, bears out these statements. She says: "I have the greatest reason to be thankful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. I was in a very weak and run-down condition. Frequently I would faint and my legs would swell badly. It was almost impossible to do any housework. It seemed as if my blood had turned to water. In this weak and despondent condition I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A few boxes proved that they were helping me, but continued taking the pills until I had used a dozen boxes, by which time I found myself a completely recovered woman, able to do my work without fatigue, a better appetite and a sense of cheerfulness, where before I had been depressed. For all this I thank you to the health-giving qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

If you are feeling run-down, give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. They are new health will be yours. You can get the pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Important Fossil Beds

The Red Deer Valley of Alberta is exceedingly rich in fossil remains of dinosaurs and other extinct vertebrate animals, which are being slowly exhumed by erosion of the sides of the valley. It is the most productive collecting field in Canada and has already yielded much new and preserved material to the museums at Ottawa, Toronto, Edmonton, and New York.

Italy Bans Dirigible

The Italian government has decided to abolish the dirigible balloon as a weapon of warfare or as a means of commercial transportation. It was assumed the decision was due directly to the disaster that befell the dirigible Italia on its recent North Pole flight.

Buy Canadian Grown Bulbs

Canadian Grown Bulbs Replacing Imports From Holland

Canadian bulbs are rapidly displacing Holland grown stock, and the reason for this is apparent. British Columbia grown bulbs have been tested in every province of the Dominion on the experimental farms, and in practically every case the verdict was "as good" and in some cases, "better" than imported bulbs.

These results are fully outlined in Bulletin No. 95 "Some Flowering Bulbs," which may be had on application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Tulips, narcissus, hyacinth, crocus, etc., are bulbs that are planted in the fall, and whether for the garden or the house orders should be placed immediately. The bulletin referred to gives suggestions and advice on soil, fertilizers, culture, etc., and in addition, lists the best varieties by color. The results of experiments are also given. A chapter on common bulb diseases completes a very excellent bulletin, which also contains many illustrations including a colored plate of Darwin tulips.

It is usually safe to say that when a child is pale, sickly, peevish and restless, the cause is worms. These parasites range the stomach and intestines, causing serious disorders of the digestion and preventing the infant from deriving sustenance from food. Miller's Worm Powders, by destroying the worms, correct these faults of the digestion and serve to restore the organs to healthy action.

Northeast of Arisaig, in the country ever associated with the landing and departure of Prince Charlie, lies Loch Morar. It is the deepest lake in the British Isles.

Youths From Britain Are Returning Home With A New Vision of this Dominion

Coming here a month ago for a tour of Canada as "ambassadors of empire," fifty representatives of the youth of the British Isles, 25 boys and 25 girls, between the ages of 14 and 21, are returning to their homes in England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales, as real ambassadors for Canada.

Their captivation by the charms and challenges of the Dominion, and their intention to boost Canada on their return home, were declared at a luncheon attended the party by the city of Montreal.

"We," said Lady Marjorie Dalrymple, in charge of the 25 girls in the party, "will tell of the wonders we have seen and the practical splendor of Canada, the warmth of Canada's welcome and hospitality, and the warmth of feeling toward us of the Old Land. We go back full of great memories and high ambitions. We can all do our bit. I believe that if people come out here with open minds and a willingness to work, they will be helped."

Kenneth Lindsay, M.A., Oxon, in charge of the 25 boys of the party, said: "We are going back to set up fifty individual selling agencies for Canada. We go back with hopes high and confirmed optimists. We go back with a new vision of Canada."

"We recognize this is a land of milk and honey, but not for those who are not prepared to work," went on Mr. Lasco. "We are going home to preach the gospel that you want here workers and not shirkers."

"We are not concerned about the 'peaceful penetration of the United States' in this country. We find on all sides a very great and sincere love for the empire and we feel this scheme has played a contributory part in that unity of empire which is one of the most potent influences in the preservation of the peace of the world."

"We came to Canada seeking the soul of Canada. We have seen something of the real Canada. We have visited typical Canadian homesteads; we saw the wheat fields, even have had a small part in gathering the harvest; we have visited typical city homes; we have seen your gold and other mines at work; we have climbed your mountains; we have sailed your lakes; we have seen something of your vast industries and we have seen a great deal of your vast natural resources. And we go back home with a real knowledge of the progress of Canada. We feel that the thing of importance is your future."

Mayor Houde suggested Canada adopt a similar scheme, sending a group of Canadian youths to the British Isles on a return visit to this one. The idea was praised by Mr. Lasco, who promised full co-operation from the other side if the idea was put into practice.

Writer Interested In Canadian Home Life

British Woman Journalist Making Trip Through Dominion

Very few visitors to Canada are impressed with the luxuries of the Dominion, but that is just what strikes Miss Daisy Cryar, London journalist. Unlike most journalists who visit the Dominion it is not the nation's problems—of its wheat crops which interests her most. She will write of how Canadian women live and describe modern Canadian homes.

"The women of the leisure class in England have no idea of conditions as they exist in Canada, according to Miss Cryar. 'I am not referring to business women, but women of leisure. They think this is a terrible country and feel sorry for women who have to live here. They have no idea of the luxuries which are enjoyed here,' Miss Cryar declared.

Canadian plumbing was one thing which caught the attention of the British journalist. Your taps are so big. You turn on one and a whole Niagara of hot water comes gushing forth. Then you seem to indulge yourselves. You keep your homes warm, while in England we still depend largely on fireplaces which mean only a small portion of the house is hot."

Miss Cryar writes for the London Daily Mail under the pen name "Nan Gloucester." Following her trip to Canada which is partly a holiday one, she plans to go to Paris from where she is writing a series of articles for the London Daily News and London Daily Mail.

W. N. TILLEY, K.C., Director, Canadian Pacific Railway

W. N. Tilley, K.C., is one of the leaders of the Canadian Bar. He has specialized in railway legal work and has been actively engaged as counsel in all of the larger railroad questions in Canada since 1914.

Mr. Tilley's connection with the Canadian Pacific began about ten years ago, when he became special counsel for the company, handling all their important appeals and acts as counsel in various rare equities.

Mr. Tilley's wide experience in constitutional railway and corporation cases has resulted in his being retained both in the Canadian courts and Privy Council in most of the important issues of the past ten or twelve years, his first outstanding case being the International Fisheries Arbitration at the Hague, where he appeared as one of the counsel for the Dominion of Canada and Newfoundland.

Mr. Tilley was born at Bowmanville, Ontario, in 1868, the son of the late Dr. W. E. Tilley, inspector of public and high schools. He was called to the Bar in 1894, and was gold medalist in his final year in law at Osgoode. He was created a K.C. in 1916.

I knew he would do well, but he did better than I thought," Montreal reporters were amazed when they met Mrs. Williams, who looked so young and is so pretty. They thought at first she must be Percy's sweetheart. She is sure he won't go to university in the United States, but will attend the University of British Columbia.

Following Regular Course

Nothing the Matter With Gulf Stream Say Old Mariners

Two mariners from across the Atlantic have brought word to New York that, contrary to report, the gulf stream is following its regular course.

Some trans-Atlantic skippers had expressed the belief that the warming-giving stream was shifting away from the British Isles, but this was disputed by Captain S. G. S. McNeill, of the Commander "Maurentina," and Captain Johnsen, of the Columbus of the North German Lloyd.

"There has been no change in the course of the gulf stream," said Captain McNeill. "It has been running rather stronger this summer, and this has caused the counter current westward from the northern edge to run a little faster."

"There are a number of people who have been crossing this ocean for twenty to thirty years and don't appear to be aware of the existence of the counter current. There is nothing wrong with the gulf stream."

Captain Johnsen said he has noted no change in the course of the stream. He suggested that for accurate scientific purposes "slow moving ships be sent criss-cross over the range of the stream to establish authoritatively just what it is doing. Fast-moving ships are impracticable."

A Land Of Homes and Plenty

Comfort and Sound Life Of The People Of The Prairies

"The greatness of this new prairie land—Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta—lies not only in its growing towns but in the comfort and sound life of the country people scattered all over its territory. It is a land of homes and plenty. If its people have to work hard, they find time also for sport and pleasure. Almost every family has its motor car. Every farm house has its wireless, and nearly everyone keeps in touch with neighbors and the world by telephone. The prairies have long been trying to develop a new summer route through Hudson Bay, which will save all the long journey across land from Montreal and will hasten the day when these great cities (Winnipeg, Edmonton, Calgary, Saskatoon, and Regina) will be more and more the astonishment of the West—My Magazine, London, Eng."

Splendid Feed For Stock

Soybean Makes Heavy Hay Like Clover But Needs Thorough Curing

The soybean, a crop well known in some parts of the United States and commencing to get a foothold in Canada, makes a very good class of hay. Officers of the Experimental Farms Division of the Department of Agriculture have written a pamphlet on Soybeans in Canada, that gives one a very good idea of the usefulness of the crop. The soybean, like clover, makes a heavy hay that is relished by live stock. It is ready for harvest any time after the pods have developed until the leaves begin to turn yellow. G. P. McRostie, the head of the Forage Crops Division, says that the best time to cut is when the pods are well filled, for at this stage the highest yield and best quality is obtained. After being cut with the ordinary hay mower, it is left in the swath for about a day or until the leaves are thoroughly wilted. The practice in this respect is about the same as with clover. When wilted it is raked into windrows where it is allowed to cure. After two or three days, if the weather has been favorable, it should be put into small cocks for further curing and drying. Thorough curing is needed to prevent spoiling in the mow. The hauling and handling requires to be carefully done in order to preserve the leaves, which are the most valuable part of the feed, as much as possible.

Danger From Snakes

Experience With A Deadly Cobra In South Africa

One day my mother was horrified to see, through a window, her baby in this open space playing with a cobra. The little child was sitting in front of the snake pointing with its finger at the quivering tongue of the snake; the snake had reared its head, and was hissing at the child, with its head close to the child's face. It was a critical time; if the snake was in any way startled, or angered, it would strike at once and the child would be dead in a few minutes. What was the best thing to do to rescue the child? My mother did the very best thing she could have done under the circumstances. She took up a mouth organ which was near her, and played soft music on it. This attracted the attention of the snake, and for a moment it left the child, and then, still playing, my mother approached the baby; the snake crawled away, and the child was brought to the house. Gentleness was the only way in which the child could have been saved.

It is wonderful how many people escape death in a country so full of snakes. As I am writing this, the papers tell how a boy put his hand into a hole in a wall to rob a bird's nest, but the snake had been before him, and was still in the nest, and when the child's hand reached the place where the bird's eggs should have been, it touched the snake, which struck, and the child was dead in a few minutes.—Dr. S. P. Impney in South Africa Cape Times.

Explore Barren Lands

Airplane Survey Finds Northern Tundra To Be Sixty Per Cent. Lakes

The "barren lands" of the far north were explored recently by a party of three men in a super-Universal Fokker monoplane of the Western Canadian Airways. The four-thousand-mile journey took twelve days.

The route taken was from Winnipeg north to Churchill and Chesterfield Inlet, across the Baker Lake barren lands to Port Smith, Wallace Lake, Reindeer Lake, Cold Lake, and return to Winnipeg.

The trip revealed that so-called barren land territory is composed of sixty-per cent. lakes, the explorers stated, and the remainder is barren rock and tangled vegetation.

Not a sign of life could be seen as the "plane winged from Chesterfield Inlet nearly 1,500 miles north to Baker Lake, at which point a few trappers, priests and Eskimos live the year round.

"What are the seven ages of woman?"

"Her real age and six guesses."

Renunciation of war is symbolized by the Canadian-Hungarian border, says the Washington Post, in an editorial commenting on Premier MacKenzie King's speech, at Geneva.

"All the arguments for peace find support, all the objections to the world peace treaty are reduced to unconvincing postulate, by the relations which have existed between the two countries for more than a hundred years." The old Rush-Bagot treaty has amply sufficed for the ends of amity. The international joint commission is the agency for the settlement of the ends at issue, and it always finds support for its judgments.

The Post comments that the most "quickenning thing," said by the Canadian Premier, at Geneva, was his conclusion that the removal of the fear of war had been the greatest factor in the development and prosperity of the North American countries, and adds: "The growing world opposition to war cannot now lose sight of the advantage enjoyed by the neighbor countries of North America through the removal of fear of war. Canadian-American peace has been maintained in the face of wars that have time and again altered the face of Europe. This is an old story to Americans and Canadians, but it had a strange sound to many of the representatives of the war-weary states. The psychology of peace, which has been the basis of permanent good-will between Canada and the United States and which has conducted to bring prosperity, can be obtained by all nations, if they will make a habit of renouncing war. This will remove the fear of war, and with fear eliminated, armaments can be reduced and abolished."

The Control Of Pests

Measures To Be Taken To Overcome Pests In Field and Garden

The greatest menace to agriculture is the large number of insect pests, which with very little encouragement spread at an alarming rate. These are particularly prevalent and persistent in gardens, and unless control measures are instituted soon make crops of vegetables and flowers a total loss.

Injurious insects may be divided, roughly into two classes, by the nature of their mouth parts, "biting" insects which bite and chew their food, such as cut worm, leaf eating beetles, etc., and "sucking" insects which suck their food by means of their beaks, such as aphids, the tree bugs, the scale insects, etc. For the first a stomach poison is necessary and for the second a contact insecticide.

"Insects of the Flower Garden and Their Control," is a new bulletin of the Department of Agriculture, No. 98, new series. This may be had on application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, and in it will be found a very full treatise on the cultural practices for the control of insects, also the formulae for insecticides and the way to apply them. Arthur Gibson, Dominion Entomologist, has covered the control of destructive insects in a very full and complete manner in this bulletin, and the work is fully illustrated.

"Better Lumber for Less Money."

C. D. Finch, Irma Agent

Having the Calgary Edmonton highway go through the heart of the town appears to have as many disadvantages as things that can be said in its favor. One thing is the difficulty of keeping the traffic down to a safe rate of speed. Now that there is no break in the gravel, most motorists seem to think there is no necessity to slow down any more than is necessary in order to get around the corners. Even at fifteen miles an hour, which is supposed to be the local speed limit, it takes only about three minutes to go through town. It is interesting to stand at the corner by the Bank of Montreal and note the speed at which the cars come rolling down and the mania seems to have the majority of people in its grip. Among those who were worried by the local police recently was a provincial cabinet minister and another who should have been an officer of the Edmonton city police which gives some idea of how the traffic rules are generally disregarded.—Leduc Representative.

Viking

The people of this community had the pleasure of listening to a very excellent recital given by Mrs. Clara H.
McPherson, of Ryley last Monday evening in the local Lutheran church under the auspices of the Viking branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. Mrs. McPherson chose for her recital program, "The Mansion" by Henry Van Dyke, in which she portrayed five characters, in a manner that elicited much favorable comment by the large audience that gathered here. This selection required versatility and artistry in presentation which Mrs. McPherson did very effectively, and succeeded in holding the rapt attention and interest of her audience to the close.

Other artists who contributed to an evening of musical and literary merit, were, Mrs. Comstock, soprano, of Ryley, Mrs. Dorward, soprano, of Viking, Mr. Earl Lyons, Viking, violinist, all of whom were accorded warm and heartily applause for the rendition of several favorite numbers. Selections by the orchestra were also enjoyed.

Mrs. H. M. Hilliker, president of the local W. C. T. U. was chairman and gave some appropriate introductory remarks. Mrs. Hyslop moved a vote of thanks to the artists for the splendid evening's entertainment and expressed the great pleasure it had been to listen to such a meritorious program. The singing of the national anthem brought the evening to a close.

The building committee of the Viking Elks Community Hall Co., Ltd., we are informed, decided not to advertising for tenders for the construction of the hall, but have passed around plans and specifications among contractors in Edmonton and local contractors to estimate on and expect to have some figures next week.

Viking Young Peoples Society held officers took place with the following results—President Ken. Hilliker; Vice President Dr. B. W. Richardson; Secretary Mrs. S. Lefsrud; Treasurer Marguerite Gimby; Convenors of Depts.; Wm. Wagner, M. Grant, and G. Harris. It was decided to meet weekly on Tuesday evenings at 8.15 sharp.

An Executive meeting followed, at which the following practical programs were decided upon: October 9
Introductory Discussion led by Mr.
Bainbridge; 16th, "Current Events" led by "A" Dept.; 23rd "The Stage—Ancient and Modern" led by "C" Dept; 30th Halloween Party. This season promises to be the best of the Society's history.

Darrel Woodcock and Robt. McEwen

Calgary with them. Robt. McEwen will be remembered as being teller at the local bank some eight years ago.
He left the bank a short while ago and is now in the office of the Leth-

C. W. Stenberg, of Albany, Oregon, is a visitor in this community. Mr.

D. Richardson wishes to announce that he will be away from Viking all of next week, October 8th to 14th on business, and will not be able to meet his patients during that time.

J. L. Dodds has been in the hospital the past few days having a rib mended that cracked when he leaned over in

Tragedy On Race Track

Indian Woman Is Killed When Her Horse Trips Over Wire

Rosie Kimbasket is dead and there is mourning in the wigwags of her people in the Windermere Valley, where her passing was foretold by her aged mother when her daughter, full of joyful anticipation at the prospect of her visit to the coast, left home. And there was sorrow and grief in the tents of the Kootenay Indians at Canada's Pacific Exhibition where, before 5,000 persons, she rode to her death.

The Indian woman was killed near the end of the square race in which she was riding against another native, Mrs. Alexander. Her mount, which was on the inside of the track, edged over on to the grass and tripped over the wires which had been pegged to the ground to support a trapeze.

Rosie was thrown full length upon the track with terrific force. She scrambled to her feet as the horse rolled over, and then staggered a short distance before collapsing.

Steward: "Anything I can do for you, sir?" Sick Passenger: "Yes, steward, ask the chief engineer if there's any hope of the boiler blowing up."

The longest tug of war on record was that between two companies of the Second Derby Regiment in India, in 1889. It lasted two hours and 41 minutes.

Apt alliteration provides that "C. C. and C." stand for "Care, Courtesy, and Common Sense." Not "Carren, Crash, and Cripple," as some autists seem to think.

A WONDERFUL TRIBUTE

Baby's Own Tablets Declared To Be Worth Their Weight In Gold

A mother has only to use Baby's Own Tablets once to be convinced that nothing else can equal them in banishing the ill of her little ones. Once used, always used, as being as there are small children in the home—that is the tribute thousands of mothers pay the Tablets.

Among the many, many mothers who are anxious to tell of their experience with Baby's Own Tablets is Mrs. Griffith, of East Hamilton, Ont., who writes: "Shortly after coming to Canada I began giving the Tablets to my baby boy who was then six weeks old. The result was so pleasing that since that time I have always kept the Tablets in the house. I have two children now and both of them are the picture of health. Baby's Own Tablets are the only medicine they have ever had and I really believe the Tablets to be worth their weight in gold."

Baby's Own Tablets are free from all injurious drugs and can be given to the youngest babe with absolute safety. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"On his recommendation I bought a bottle and after I had taken it got some relief, so I got two more, and have never had the dysentery since 1928."

Tourists Should Be Informed

As the tourist reaches our country he should be given a card containing full particulars in regard to highway regulations, the purchase and consumption of liquor and in reference to all other matters with which he should be familiar, while he is a guest of this province. It is a hardship to punish a visitor for transgressing a law in regard to which he has not been informed, a difficulty which would be completely overcome by the introduction of some such plan as this.

"Good-bye old pal," Donald whispered, his arms about the collier's shaggy neck. The dog turned slowly and unwillingly toward the house. In the meantime, with the house, John McLean and his wife were discussing the possible result of the father's seeming severity.

"Donald is a great trial to us now, John," said the mother, "but we must not forget the happiness he has brought us in the past." She gazed long and lovingly at a photograph of her son as a child; then, with head bowed, her lips moved in silent prayer.

Upon his arrival at the wharf Donald found his baggage destroyed, the pass he had been in the habit of using, as his father was owner of the steamboat line, and bought a ticket to Bangor.

Reaching Bangor, he chose less expensive quarters than was his custom, locating at the Penobscot, on Exchange Street. In a mood for sleep, he decided to take a stroll. Outside an all-night restaurant was a long string of cars, and from within came the sound of happy laughter.

A feeling of loneliness, coupled with a slight hunger induced him to enter. A big man sitting at the counter, attacking vigorously a T-bone steak, was the centre of interest, as evidenced by the cluster of taxi-drivers and other night-bummers about him. He wore a wide-brimmed hat, high leather boots, corduroy trousers, a blue flannel shirt, and a red-mackinaw coat hung on the wall behind him. Blond, sun-washed hair stood up from his head aggressively, and his steady blue eyes were set in a face tanned a brick red.

"Yes, sir," spoke the blond giant between mouthfuls, "she's a he-man's country, she is. None of your bun show that I used to get here in these Eastern loggin' camps, son-belly and beans three times a day, and workin' for forty dollars a month from daylight until dark. No, sirree! Me for the Coast with its four bucks a day. And talk about grub! Say, there ain't any hotel that puts up better scottins than we get in the loggin' camps in good old B.C."

He looked around at his audience and, convinced that they were interested, he continued: "Yes, sir! British Columbia for mine, say! What'd you think of three fir logs that makes a carload? Of cedars ten feet through? Of alders that you can't get your arms round? Some different than them toothpicks you got out there," jerking his thumb contemptuously toward the Penobscot River. "And minerals," he went on. "The mountains are filled with 'em—miles and miles that ain't never been prospected. Prospector comin' in every day with new strikes. And talk about fish! I seen the fish so thick they choked the rivers; you could darn near walk on their backs. That's the place for men with git-up-and-git." He finished his repast with a gulp of coffee, fished a sack of tobacco and brown paper from his pocket, and rolled a cigarette. "A brand new country," he ran on, his eyes shining with enthusiasm, "that ain't half explored yet, and richer 'n a pall of cream. How much do I owe you, boy?" He asked as he drew out a wad of banknotes, peeled a bill from the outside money, and of the waiter's subsequent remarks.

"Huh!" snorted the big man disgustedly, "guess I need a guardren." With the assistance of the obliging night-clerk, who furnished antiseptic and court plaster, they patched the hurts of the much-bruised Westerner.

"When the clerk left the room the big man turned to Donald, 'My name's Jack Gillis. What's yours?'"

"Donald McLean."

"Dann good name," he averred, looking Donald over critically.

"I bin' visitin' my old home in Nova Scotia," he ran on. "Come down here to visit my sister. I'm gittin' homesick for the Pacific Slope, and I'm goin' to hit for B.C. tomorrow mornin'."

"I'm on my way to Vancouver," said Donald.

The effect of this statement on Gillis was electric. "Do you belong in B.C.?" he questioned excitedly.

Donald told him how his glowing description of that land of promise had induced him to go West, and that this would be his first visit to the Coast.

"Well," observed Gillis, "if I've been the means of addin' a man like you to the population of B.C., then Jack Gillis has done some good."

"That's a real compliment," smiled Donald.

"I'm goin' on the mornin' train," remarked Gillis. "I'd like to have you travel with me."

Donald nodded.

(To Be Continued.)

Canada Wants No Shirkers

Lord Advocate For Scotland Says There Is No Place For Whiners Here

Canada is no place for "winners," the Rt. Hon. H. P. Macmillan, Lord Advocate for Scotland, said in an address to the Victoria Canadian Club in referring to the troubles over the prairie harvest fields.

"I should like those who came to this country to read a little of Canadian history and understand some of the hardships faced by the pioneers here, by their womenfolk and their children to develop and settle this country," Mr. Macmillan said.

"Workers who come across here and whine and complain of hardships don't know that they are born. This is no country for whiners. It would never have progressed as it has unless the people who came here, your fathers and some of you yourselves, had been willing to endure hardships."

"The man who comes here can't expect to land on a down pillow at once, he must face the spirit of the new land. Canada wants no shirkers."

"And I am sure those who come here and are willing to work and pioneer will be treated in the right spirit as they always have been. I am satisfied from what I have learned and seen on my way across that among you those who merit a welcome will receive it."

Music Was Wedding Gift

Carried By Radio and Telephone From Switzerland To Manchester, Mass.

Ernest Schelling, renowned pianist, sat in his villa at Celigny, Switzerland, and played wedding music which was heard at Manchester, Mass. U.S.A., by guests at the wedding of Miss Anne Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl P. Dennett of Boston and Manchester, and William Chase Paulton, of Santa Barbara, Cal.

The music, which was carried a distance of approximately 4,000 miles by telephone and radiotelephone, was the wedding gift of the pianist who is an intimate friend of the bride's father.

The ceremony took place at 5 o'clock, and 6:15, during the reception, the telephone brought to the Dennett drawing room the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. This was followed for half an hour by a number of Mr. Schelling's own compositions.

The music was conveyed from Switzerland to London by telephone, thence by radio to Boston, where it was relayed to Manchester.

Chinese Habits and Customs

Everything Is Done Directly Opposite To Western Style

When two Chinamen meet they shake hands with the thumbs, not with each other. The chief topic of their conversation is food. The boys in China have girls' names and wear earrings; the men fly kites and play marbles; the women wear trousers. Chinese ships have no keels from the back forward and from the right to left. A Chinaman scratches his foot instead of his head when he is puzzled. He can divorce his wife for talkativeness. He never quits a job, but gets a leave of absence and returns to it.

A Chinaman's dinner starts with dessert and ends with soup. He pays more for such than for beef. Most of his money is made of brass. All domestic servants in China are men. They never talk back to their employers. When invited out to dinner a Chinaman takes a servant along with him to help at table. Should the invited one be forced to remain at home through illness the dinner is sent to him. Chinese who can afford it boil their fish in wine. And, if they are rich enough to do so, use silver tooth picks. All beverages are served piping hot in China. John Chinamen imbibes freely of cups that inebriate, but is seldom seen in an intoxicated condition.

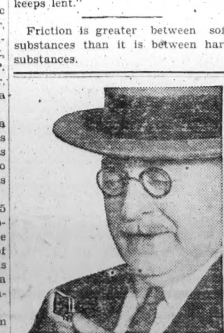

Rub It In For Lame Back.—A brisk rubbing with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil will relieve a lame back. The skin will immediately absorb the oil and it will penetrate the tissues and bring speedy relief. Try it and be convinced. As the liniment sinks in, the pain comes out and there are ample grounds for saying that it is an excellent article.

Learned His Lesson
"Lots of reading on it," he observed, as he perused the text of the bond application with great interest. "Huh!" remarked the clerk with the paper. "I bet you didn't read your marriage license that carefully."

"Maybe not," was the reply, but ever since I signed that I'm reading everything."

Alpha—"What was the denomination of that bill you loaned me?"
Theta—"Episcopalian, I guess; it keeps lent."

THERE is nothing that has ever taken Aspirin's place as an antidote for pain. It is safe, or physicians wouldn't use it, and endorse its use by others. Sure, or several million users would have turned to something else. But get the real Aspirin (at any drugstore) with Bayer on the box, and the word genuine printed in red.

Teeth and Health

Issued By The Canadian Dental Hygiene Council and Published By The Saskatchewan Dental Society

THE WISDOM TOOTH

Otherwise the third molar, the word "Wisdom" being of no real significance excepting as it relates to the period of eruption which is at the approach of adult age. Perhaps it has been your good fortune not to have had this tooth erupt in truth. It is often a trouble bearer; it is the dental "degenerative"—generally started in size but frequently absent altogether—but why missing?

This—this gradual lessening of the function of mastication and the reduction of the force of jaw movement, due to the substitution of softer and less gritty foods by civilized man, has led to a marked degeneracy of the dental mechanism.

So that, through economy of growth, due to disease, the tooth germ may fail to develop; or, developing, the jaws are so greatly contracted (through disease), that frequently there is lack of space for it to erupt into position—a condition analogous to that of the eyeless fish of the Mammoth Cave—Nature cutting off that which goes unused.

Just a word, more. Occasionally the unnatural retention of this tooth in the jaw—so-called "impaction," leads to serious disturbances, neuralgic pain, local infection, or constitutional ills. So when your physician, finding no specific cause for your general ill health, orders that "impacted" wisdom removed, you will better understand the reason.

But don't worry should the wisdom teeth not erupt—the chances are that you have been spared trouble.

Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance

Talented Western Canadian Is Author Of New Book, Called "Long Lance"

A man of magnificent appearance came to the office of Cosmopolitan Book Corporation last year and asked questions on the technique of writing a book. He was not seen around the Cosmopolitan offices again for about a year. Then he returned with a complete manuscript, left it silently, and was gone again.

The next day the manuscript was circulating around the office, page by page, and being avidly read by half a dozen people at once.

The author was Buffalo Child Long Lance, a chief of the Blood Band of Blackfoot Indians. He had written how as a boy he suffered the tortures of training as a warrior and was educated in the teachings of medicine-men and wrinkled old braves. He had told the stories of a "babyhood" on horseback, of buffalo-hunting, of fighting, of "medicine," of capturing wild horses, of war and peace, sun dances and happy feasts.

Now a college graduate and an appointee by President Wilson to West Point; a hero of the World War, and a most charming personality, Chief Long Lance turned up as a literary man of a high order.

The book was a rare contribution to Americana. The publishers prevailed on him to let the book be called "Long Lance."

Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance is a most extraordinary personality. More than thirty years ago he was born an ordinary Indian baby on the western plains in what is now Alberta. To tell of his boyhood before the Blackfoot Indians signed a treaty and went to the reservation would take the edge off his amazing book.

Little Helps For This Week

"The Lord thy God, He it is that doth go with thee; He will not fail thee, nor forsake thee."—Deut. xxxii, 6.

Yet if we will one Guide obey. The dearest path, the darkest way. Shall issue out in heavenly day. And we, on divers shores now cast, Shall meet, our petulous voyage past. All in our Father's house at last.

—Richard Chenevix Trench.

So long as our existence lasts, we must not give up the duty of cheerfulness and hope. He who has guided us through the night also, will guide us through the night also. The pillar of darkness often turns into a pillar of fire. Have patience and perseverance; believe that there is still a future before us, and we shall at last reach the haven where we would be.

Room Was Too Small

An angler was describing to his friend a salmon he had caught. "How big was it?"

"Biggest salmon you ever saw," said the sportsman.

"But that doesn't explain much to me," argued his friend. "The only salmon I ever saw was in a can. Measure with your hands to give me an idea."

The angler glanced at the walls of the room.

"All right," he said, "but we'll have to go outdoors to do it."

Are You Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner does than Baby is soothed; relief is just a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot put away. And it's always ready for the crueler pangs of colic, or constipation, or diarrhoea; effective, too, for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

The Wastebasket

"Aren't you worrying about the ten dollars you owe me?" remarked a business man to a young fellow on the street here the other day. "Heck, no," the other replied, "what's the use of both of us worrying about it?"

Observations of a philosopher: Men get pearls from oysters, but it takes a flapper to get diamonds from a crab.

"Stop! This can't go on!" exclaimed a local girl. "All right, then," replied the shoe clerk, "we'll try a larger size shoe."

"Your examination credits do not seem to be very satisfactory," said the superintendent of schools at Wainwright to a new student there at the opening of school. "Well, you see I had a tough time of it," the young fellow replied, "first I got angrier pectoria, followed by arterio-sclerosis. I was through with these when I got tuberculosis, double pneumonia and phthisis. Then they gave me hypodermics. Appendicitis was followed by tonsillotomy." "You must have spent a lot of time in the hospital," remarked the superintendent. "Hospital nothing," the student replied, "I mean it was the hardest spelling test I ever had."

"I want a girl who is good, clever and beautiful," remarked a Kinsella fellow. "Say, you don't want one, you want three," replied a bystander.
